This sensible

compassionate
book relates the principles of the Tao-te ching
to the practice
of contemporary psychotherapy.

This book is not
about surrender
to an outside
authority, but

to an inside
one. It is about
the
relinquishment
of our ego
consciousness,
our separated
states of heart
and mind to a greater
consciousness,
to the essence
of love which is
the source of

“fascinating

motherhood”

(Publishers

century ago it
was women’s sexual desires
that were
unspeakable,
today it is the

female desire to
mother that has become taboo.

One hundred years of Freud
and feminism
have liberated
women to acknowledge and
explore their
sexual selves,
as well as their
public and
personal

ambitions. What has remained
inhibited is
women's thinking
about
motherhood.

Maternal Desire
is the first
book to treat
women's desire
to mother as a legitimate focus
of intellectual inquiry and

exploration.

Shedding new

light on old

debates, Daphne

de Marneffe

provides an

emotional road

map for mothers

who work and

mothers who are

at home. De

Marneffe both

explores the

anxieties of
motherhood and
offers mothers

situations

valuable ways to think through

their self-

doubts and

connect to their

Drawing on a

rich tradition
of writers, such as Simone de

Adrienne Rich,
Carol Gilligan,
and Susan

Faludi, as well
as her

experience as a psychologist and
mother of three,
de Marneffe

illuminates how

we express our desire to care for children. By treating

as a central feature of women's

identity—rather than as an
inconvenient or slightly
embarrassing
detail—we can look with fresh insight at controversial issues, such as childcare, fertility, abortion, and the role of fathers. An “absorbing look at the enormous personal pleasure that women derive

while also

supporting their
